

Tuesday, April 6

96 DAYS PAST

269 TO COME

Reposition of Prolapsed Herniæ in Children.

The child is placed in moderate Trendelenburg posture, and firmly held by an assistant. The surgeon blows in the face of the infant sharply and repeatedly, causing it to take shallow, jerky breaths. In this process the ring is relaxed, intra-abdominal pressure is released, and then it becomes easily possible to reduce the prolapsed gut, etc., into the abdomen. An adhesive plaster dressing with pressure retains the hernia within the abdominal cavity.—Nusbaum; Münch. Med. Woch.

Weather

Temp.

Warm
I ironed Maudie & Lovelin went to Aylmer & Maudie took her musick lesson Ma Mills was at, with paper for me to choose some from to paper the dining room & is coming tomorrow paper. I took the tack out of the carpet & got ready Billy 5-

97 DAYS PA

Both

show that emergency
It can, the poverty in cations do or recovery

Weather

a good out of room
can Gester
broug
right
Maud
new
it all