

They were gone and said the two cars of crushed rock had come and he wanted us to turn out this afternoon and help haul it. So Dad & I went down with the team and wagon I stayed down there at the car loading wagons all the afternoon. There were nine or ten teams hauling all to gether. Dad had a tight horse so he hauled the fine stuff. They are putting it on the big hill on the side road out here by our place. It has been sunny and sultry all day. Looks like rain.

Saturday June 19th

I got up good and early this morning and Dad & I went down to haul stone again. I spent the whole morning in one of the cars shouldering out the side that didn't dump. I finished it all but about a wheel harrow load by noon but it was heavy work. They hired Hubby for the day and he & Supper's man were in the other car. They finished hauling the stone by soon after dinner. but Dad was all the afternoon hauling the fine stuff. There wasn't nearly enough of it to cover the big stones so they had to use earth which I am afraid will not be nearly so good. Stayed down at Hubby's to dinner. Enah and I printed pictures to night. Frank took Gladys down to Porter's this morning and this afternoon caught old Daddy and cultivated corn. Rained a little last night but to-day but windy.

Sunday June 20th

Frank went to church & Sunday school this morning but Dick and I went down to Quankump for a swim. we both swam across to the stump and back. The water was elegant but the wind rather cold. This afternoon Dad, Enah & I went for a drive out to Mt. Zion Church. Frank went for a ride on his wheel and Dick down town. I wrote to Aunty Alice. Five or six of my littlest chickens disappeared yesterday and I suspected a cat and to night Frank caught the white cat running under the shop with me so to night Frank put her in a sack and took her down to the fish shanties to lose her. It has been sunny all day but there has been a cool breeze.

Monday June 21st

We were all ready to get at the road work again this morning when Harvey Shand came in and said that there was another car with some fine stuff on the road and he thought it would be better to wait for it than to cover the stones up with earth. so after breakfast. We took the little jag we had on the wagon from Saturday night and put it on the road. Enah and I did some went with us and picked some wild straw berries along the road.
