The ploughs were going to-day but there has been some snow this evening this fall has in some respects been an untoward one the frost killed the potatoe and indian corn crops early in Aug^t generally potatoes are now 2/3 a peck ^{but} but oats were also much damaged We took up 300 bushels of potatoes at laying-in-time & had about 14 or 15th of india corn

Dec 15th 1836 the snow is now about 10 inches deep it began to fall upon the 13th and continued to fall upon the 14th there had been two or three falls prior to the 13th of two inches deep or so but did not continue above a day or so

On the 16th day of Feb 1837 the thermometer stood at 28 degrees below zero at Kingstone

Extraordinary

(cat) Our large black tom cat having been proven a thief was condemned to be drawn which sentence was put in execution on Saturday the 8th of April 1837 at 5 o'clock P.M. A large stone having ^{been} tied about his neck he was thrown into the water and sank to the bottom and lay there till the following Monday about 5 o'clock P.M. when he was taken out apparently dead and the stone being taken off his neck he was thrown into the bush and was seen lying there 4 days thereafter But to our astonishment he made his appearance about the doors on the morning of the following sabbath crying rather wildly but in other respect appearing to be in good health 17th he is still well May 1st Tom was seen to day (well) by William Robertson & others
