

Deborah (Mullett) Haight Bowerman

Diary #2, 1887 - 1892

This is the second Deborah Mullett Bowerman Diary dated 1887- 1892: It is held at the Prince Edward County Archives and has the accession number A2001.016.096a - labelled Journal 2. Click here to see the first diary. Transcribed by Lydia Wytenbroek, history student at Trinity Western University, Langley, British Columbia and posted here with her permission. Pam Noxon, archivist at the PEC Archives, also grants permission for this posting. Thanks to Dr. Robynne Rogers Healey, Associate Professor at Trinity Western University, for her role in this effort.

Copyright: © Lydia Wytenbroek and Randy Saylor, 2008

---

Notes

1. Many of the dates on the left hand sides of the pages were cut off. i.e. see page 3 –the entry before the 5th –the actual month is cut off. So for many of these (if I couldn't figure out the month) I put "[?]mo, 6th" etc. Also on one page there was a line at the top cut off so I think I made a note to you in the diary with square brackets. I made a few notes for you in the diary in square brackets.
2. Whoever numbered these pages, numbered them differently. Every two pages only has one number (i.e one of your photocopied pages has one number, but there are two pages of her diary to each photocopied sheet)/ So I put an "a" and a "b" after the page numbers, but there was no a or b in the actual numbering.
3. There were more words I couldn't figure out in this one. Her writing was worse by the end and harder to read. These certain flowers she's always talking about – looks like its spelt "cerus" –I'm wondering if she means cherries! (at first I thought she meant crocuses or something). See what you think.
4. I tried to put in a [sic] when she missed her apostrophe...
5. On one of the pages there was an envelope and then the next few pages were not pages from her diary just loose leaf papers. So I typed them up. Were they what was in the envelope?

[Page 1a]

[blank]

[Page 1b]