Treatment of Burns.

Dry open-air treatment of extensive burns recommended. After thorough cleansing with soap and water and gasoline (under anesthesia, if necessary), dust burn lightly with zinc stearate powder. Give morphine to relieve pain. Once daily remove all heavy crusts, wipe off exudate with dry sponges, and dust on thin coating of powder. Never allow exudate to accumulate under crust over twenty-four hours. Success of treatment lies in constant absolute exposure of the burn.—
Jack.
