

Tuesday February 22nd

Frank and I went back to the woods this morning but Frank had a headache and had to come up about 11 o'clock. I stayed till noon cleaning out dead wood and have most of it cleared away now. This afternoon Frank didn't feel like going back so I changed out the chicken house. Dad didn't feel well either this afternoon. Mary wasted this morning and went down town with Enah this afternoon she felt pretty tired to night. I did a show card lesson. Very mild.

Wednesday February 23rd

I got up before five this morning with the intention of working at show cards - but when I looked out I saw snow all over every thing and thought there was a blizzard coming so went back to bed again thinking that we could do anything at the farm and I would have all day to work at show cards. I was very much surprised however to find when I went out that it was very soft and not very rough so when I got to the farm Dad said he thought we had better haul the turnips up from the pit while there was snow. It took us quite awhile to get ready so we had to move the calf pen and put him back at Wilkins then we put the turnips in a pile between Moonskins and the three beifers. We got one load before dinner and when we opened the pit found they had kept perfectly sound and were not a particle frozen the south side of the pit was not frozen under the manure. This afternoon we got four more loads up and didn't have room for any more in the barn so left a load in the pit. Mary went down and spent the afternoon with the Woods and I went down there for tea. Then I went to church and then went back to the Woods for awhile after. We then went down to Aunt's for awhile and came home with Dad. who had been up to see Aunt's Maude. They had intended going to Pinafore practice but there wasn't any. Turned colder this afternoon & snowed more.

Thursday February 24th

Dad & Frank went back this morning and hauled up a couple of loads of wood while Sid and I cleaned out the chicken house. This afternoon I stayed home till about four and practised at my show cards. Dad and Frank hauled another load of wood up and then got some hay over and covered the turnips a little more as the frost got at them a little last night. Winnie come over here this afternoon for awhile and Mr. Zealand and Gordon came up to stay over this weekend. Gordon shot two sparrows and caught two more in the chicken house. Fine day, cold.
