

Saturday
Thursday, May 11

132 DAYS PAST

SATURDAY

234 TO COME

Gastric Aphorisms.

The diagnosis of chronic gastritis is more often made because of lack of knowledge or lack of examination, than it should be. It is a blanket term made to fit chronic diseases of the stomach of unknown etiology. Yet there is one factor, easily detected upon examination. It is pathognomonic, viz., mucus. The mucus of chronic gastritis is often so thick and ropy that it cannot be aspirated by a tube. When suspected, irrigate the stomach with salt solution. The mucus will be vomited around the tube rather than pass through it.—Bell; Med. Herald.

Weather Dull all day.

Temp.

Mother papered toilet. Melba raked a lot more to the yard. Maud helped Melba put up the grape vine. Maud walked home from Mrs. Standings this morning. Papa took milk both times. Maud and mother went to town to - night. Mrs. Davie's niece came up to be shown how to tat. Mother has been tending the old ewe all day. Mrs. Bert Tompkins came back from London after seeing about her eye. Merrett