

Jan 28th. Went out the Highway to La Mesa. and turned there to go to Jamul. went past the corner. asked a man he said we could go another way instead of going back so went back through Spring Valley. about 2 hours and landed on the new Highway they are building took a snap of a chicken ranch called Seven Oaks. could not get near the chickens <sup>they</sup> went wild when they saw me. crossed the Sweetwater bridge across the river. water looked a few inches deep then came to a picnic place called La Honda Springs. then on to Indian Springs another picnic spot. took a snap. they charge 25¢ to drive in. drove on then to Jamul had our dinner under some trees. We also saw a field on spineless cactus at the Jamul Ranch. they grow it for feed. the road then curved around the hills and down another Valley. we intended coming back another way by Chula Vista but turned to the left instead of
