

dinner at twelve. It was too late then for them to go to dinner but Dad thought they would go out afternoon so I took Joe over and got Charlie's buggy but by the time they got there it was nearly over and all they could do was to say Hello! to everybody, but they went on out to the Shams for tea and all evening so had a good time I guess. Hank spent the morning digging at another post hole and this afternoon he filled up the hole in the stable floor back of Joe with cement while I pulled the brush along the lane fence and wet down the anchor posts. We then stretched a barbed wire along the top of the fence on the west side of the front lane between the driver house and the road where old Harry bent the fence over leaning over it. After wedid chores and had tea Hank liked Joe bed as likes to work for Ben tomorrow but I waited till the rest was done.

Tuesday September 5th

I got up at five this morning but as Dad didn't feel very well I got the cows and milked. Hank had to work over at Ben's to-day picking and sorting tomatos. Dad didn't feel much like working but did chores and oiled up the manure spreader but we didn't get out with it before dinner. I took Charlie Martin's buggy back with out hitching up to it and then come back and harnessed the team and went down to the mill to get a couple of bags of hog feed. This afternoon I started a compost heap between roads and we got out six loads of manure on the corner field. Lila was over after school and got a lot of Frank's old school books. Hot to-day and looks very like rain ^{Thursday}

Wednesday September 6th

We didn't get started hauling manure till about ten o'clock this morning on account of chores and getting a late start so we only got out ten loads all day. Dad didn't feel very well either. Hank was over at Ben's all day. Ben took a load of tomatos to Hayesville this morning and got 55cts a basket for them on the market. There are about 3 baskets in a bushel. Hank was all alone over there this morning. I went on with my compost heap and did odd jobs between loads. Art. Laanbury was in at noon to borrow the post auger to make some anchor post holes he wants to put in some cement posts. He brought it back tonight and said the ground was too hard. Hot.
