

Mar 24th 1893.

Fri. 24. Retires made their appearance this morn.

Mild and cloudy having the appearance of a rain storm, which made its appearance about the middle of the afternoon, followed in the evening by a severe Thunder and Lightning storm the rain was moderate but the Thunder and Lightning was something terrific for this time of the year.

Sat. 25.

Colder this morning having frost a little during the night, flakes of snow falling most of the forenoon. Sun shining at intervals this afternoon.

Sund. 26.

Beautiful day, cold in morning but thawing mostly all day spent the evening at Jost Hardings.

Mon 27

Fine and clear today. Lovely and warm sky cloudless.

Mar 28th 1893.

Tue. 28.

Another fine day, thawing fast and looking spring like sky almost cloudless.

Wed. 29.

Still another fine day, clear and bright until evening, having then the appearance of a storm.

Thu. 30.

Rough wind blowing from the South bringing with it a terrible heavy storm of snow lasting all the forenoon, the trees and bushes presented a magnificent appearance the snow having remained upon them while it lasted, snow very soft, the afternoon was lovely.

Fri. 31.

Mild today the roads, and walking very bad, in consequence of yesterday's storm.

Sat. 1.

All Fools Day, dull and cloudy commenced raining about 9:30 pm. and continued till noon. fine in the afternoon.