

her beneath the "Dopia tree," in a strange land; far from her kindred and home.

Friday 17th Received a paper & note today from J. S. G. requesting an answer to his letter. I must write soon. Saturday 18th wrote this evening to Anna G. & Mrs Cole a very sleepy sunset picture. Monday 21st Charinda went home yesterday morning promising to be back in time for supper and has not come yet. It is so provoking. What are such girls good for. Father has bought another one & will send for her in the morning.

Tuesday 22nd Sent this morning for the girl & succeeded in getting her. her name is Elizabeth Dorion. a clever, tidy looking girl. I do hope she will do better than the others is so wearying this continual change & trouble about servants.

wrote this evening to J. S. G. I do not see anything improper in my conduct with him in old times if my children
