Treatment of Anal Fissure.

Roux approves of a method first recommended by Lewis, of Brooklyn, which consists in applying to the fissure, held open for the purpose, a saturated solution of potassium permanganate. Sharp pain is induced, but this may be avoided or at least greatly lessened by previous application for a few minutes of a small tampon dipped in a two or three per cent. solution of cocaine hydrochloride. The application of permanganate solution is made daily. Cure results frequently in two or three days.—Lyon Medical.
