

Sunday August 13th

I waked home this morning right after breakfast. Dad had most of the chores done, I just fed the chickens. Frank and I walked down as usual to church, after which Aunt and Aunt Alice came over with me to dinner. Aunt and I went to West Rowan the night before last for a short visit with Miss Ward. and it gives Aunt and Aunt Alice a chance to both get out at once. Frank came over with Dick and they picked Jennie Call up and she came over too. Mr. James was over this afternoon. I hung around here till about five o'clock and then went down town. I hummed around with Dad. I loomed till six o'clock and then went up to Hubby's to tea. I saw the Miss Jenkins this afternoon and they were going to church to night so Dad and I went to and for a walk after work. We had quite a lot of fun but Mrs. Jenkins was down town so we couldn't stay long. The girls were down this morning with Mr. Johnson in his car and they just drove down to take them home to night. Dad's tooth was bad then after noon that he went down to Dr. Smith's to night and got him to pull it. It has been much cooler today.

Monday August 14th

Frank and I went to Simcoe this morning as the rats were a little too wet to haul from Saturday's rain. We got started about ten o'clock to take the old huggy up to Joe Cortes to get fixed up, and Frank wanted to go to Brantford to look at their suits. We met Min down at the corner coming over to the farm so took her along with us to Simcoe. We went pretty slowly on account of the old huggy being in such a critical condition and it was getting on to noon when we arrived in town. We went first to Shaver's tannery with old Jim's hide but only got six dollars for it. We then went up to Cortes and just caught him before he left in his car for Brantford. He told us he would put new rims on, set the tires, fix the top and paint it for a little under $20.00, so we were very pleased as we thought it would come higher than that with out the painting which is eight dollars, but when we got home Dad said he thought it would need new tires so I wrote to tell him. We then went down town to do our shopping but discovered it was Simcoe's civic holiday and every thing was closed up, however we got some thing to eat in at Lewis and some hay for Jessie at Burt's.
