

wind either. It was nearly six when Frank and I got home so Dad couldn't get off to church but he and Auntie walked down after us and we went to see Auntie Nellie & Uncle Al. Uncle Al gave me a great black snake which is big and Frank has best knife. He gave Frank his shot gun yesterday. It has been colder to-day although sunny and nice but raw breeze.

Monday October 28th

We didn't do any thing much - but chores this morning. Frank went over to Glummings to see what they were going to do but found they wouldn't thresh to-day. We husked a little corn in the barn. This afternoon Al. Faulkner drove Auntie Nellie & Uncle Al over in his car. Ruby came over with them but didn't stay. Frank went down with them to get the mail. I took the ginseng root back to the woods and planted it. When Frank got home he and Dad. sawed up one of the old sleepers in the barn yard for the little stove. To night Louise and I drove up to the Beulah's where I left Louise as she is going to help them move into their new house. I went on in to Lenoir and to the Armories. We didn't have any drill to-night but the officer gave us musketry instruction. This was Lila's birth day. It has been cold & windy all day and is freezing very hard to-night.

Tues day October 27th

It was very late when we got out this morning and after breakfast Dad & I went out to inspect the oat stubble to see if it was frozen too hard to plow but we saw Allan law up at the corner with his engine and he said Glummings was going to thresh to-day so Dad came right home and got the team & rack and went down. It froz very hard last night and seemed harder as it is the first frost this fall. The apples are all frozen on the trees and the ground is like a board. I hasn't thawed out all day to-day but isn't freezing so hard to night although there is a cold wind from the west. I sawed wood most of the morning and Frank went out and covered the four piles of potatoes with earth although he said they weren't injured by the frost. The mangels were frozen in the ground but Mr. Glummings says if they are not touched till the frost goes out of them they will be all right. Dad. came home at noon and said they were short handed down at Glummings so I had to go back with him. We finished up early. I pitched on all the afternoon so didn't suffer from the dust any. I rode for down town after the mail to-night. The big spotted foaling jumped over the bars from the blue grass field to-night hit on his head and broke one of his horns and made worse.
