Ether—Practical Administration. No. 4.

The simplest apparatus is the most practical and convenient for the administration of ether by the "open" or "drop" method. Ether, an inhaler, and a towel folded lengthwise are the essentials. Petrolatum, gauze sponges, a pus basin, tongue forceps, mouth gag, and the usual stimulants are at times necessary, and, if possible, should be at hand.—Dr. J. B. Bogan; N. Y. Med. Journ.
