

Pl 27th 1892.

Wed. 27.

Beautiful clear morning, some milder than usual, heavy white frosts for several mornings past, wind East this morning changing South & partly cloudy with appearance of rain, Sky heavily clouded for night, setting in for a storm,

Thu. 28.

Warm this morning, heavy Thunder Storm during the night, mostly cloudy this forenoon, wind S. East heavily clouded this afternoon wind S West and very high. Letter from J. Warner Candus East sent.

Fri 29.

Cold raw day, cloudy and very windy, from the west very cold at night,

Sat. 30.

Dull and cloudy this morning, but clearing off and turning fine about nine o'clock Am. very high winds from the west all day.

May 1st 1892.

Sun. 1.

Dull and cloudy, quite cool with light east wind this morning, shifting South and blowing very hard, bringing rain at about four o'clock Am. having the appearance of a long one. Attended Sabbath School this afternoon.

Letter: This evening is very warm compared to the past few days, ceased raining, but the sky is still overcast and is very foggy, Rain not yet over.

Mon. 2.

Dull foggy morning, commenced raining at seven o'clock Am. light showers during the day, not much as yet, wind South, Changing North West in the afternoon and sun almost out, warm this evening, but still cloudy.

Tue. 3.

Loosely warm day clear and bright until four o'clock, A Thunder shower came up, and