

I came home with a basket full of delicious provisions from this and found Cook had been over with some rice pudding and parsnips. so I lit a fire in the grate and put up and we had lunch in the fire place, where we stayed all the afternoon and had a lovely time. coming to the conclusion that it was a good thing Mary did fall down stairs. I went over to the farm about four but first went over to Mrs. Wood's and took what photograph records I could find there. just as I left Essie, Woodger & Miss Coquer came in to see Mary. When I came home for tea Mary was all ready in by the fire place so we had another delightful supper. Mrs. Wood's records proved to be no good according to our tastes, but that didn't matter much. Cloudy, mild

Monday March 14th

Mary had her breakfast in bed again this morning but got up about ten she hasn't felt very well all the afternoon as her heart was bothering her. I set the whole seven hens I got from George this morning putting 15 eggs under nearly every one so that they are covering over 100 eggs. I then went with Dad out to the big ditch and we deepened it three or four inches. we have the big lake nearly drained now. Frank went down town and got some nails this morning and this afternoon he and Dad fixed the barn where Morn shire poked a hole in it bigger than himself. I didn't get over till late as I washed the dishes for Mary. I took the milk and carrots to Adam Thompson Esq. I took down some milk & eggs to Aunt right after tea but didn't stay to hand practice as Mary didn't feel like going down and I didn't want to leave her here alone all evening. Aunt Maude has not been so well the last few days and is getting very weak. Cloudy & raw east wind all day but no frost.

Tuesday March 15th

I wore Mr. Gustad's rubber boots over this morning and. and I let a lot of water off some of the smaller ponds that drain into the big one and the big ditch. Frank came in here at noon on her way down town and brought my show card lessons they had all passed but me so I did it again to night. Mary has felt better to day and is not nearly so stiff. We just did Chares this afternoon. lovely day, very mild.

Wednesday March 16th

Dad went down to school with Jim this morning & went on down town to see how Aunt Maude was. Frank went down to the mill and got some logs
