

SATURDAY, JANUARY 22, 1870.

I have had Charley
cutting wood to-day.

My mother said I went out to Wove
and got there about noon. We went to
Mrs. Hall's according to previous engagement
to make them a visit.
I went away after dinner for a skate. Was fortunate enough to have the company of Prof. Scott. Enjoyed my skate splendidly.

Last night before retiring it was favoured with an unusually precious shower of prayer.
Ora. I cried with all my heart, with reference to a certain blessing I will not let thee go unless Thou bless me. Direct-

SUNDAY, JANUARY 23, 1870.

Spent most of the forenoon in reading Pen-nocks' sermons' together with my Bible. In praise the Lord still blesses my poor soul. He has given me more than ever the strength to claim, as my own, the blessing which I have so long desired. Not only by right of purchase but by right of promise.

Bro. J. Harris of St. George preached our Anniversary Sermon this afternoon. It reminded me a good deal of old times to Isaac Hill.
I attended ~~until~~ ^{until} four o'clock.
By the answer "Canst thou a prince keep these powers with a god."
