

till we got our furniture unloaded and got around to the blacksmith shop. When Bert Greenbury took the iron off and I took the log over to the planing mill and got George Dunn to put splice a new end on it then Greenbury put the iron back on. I had some cream for Eloa and when I got to the shop Dad asked me what I did with it and I suddenly remembered I had left it on the bank by the "Gitanic". I went back for it but <sup>it was</sup> all right. We went on up town and got the mail and Enah's wallpaper but didn't have time to do anything more than chores when we got home. Lillian behaved very nicely. So night Frank went down with Lila. Beautiful day. Stook four dozen eggs with Martin.

Sunday May 14th

Guy Geph came after Dad this morning about nine o'clock to go and see a sick colt. He had his car so Dad got back just in time to hitch Joe up for Enah & I to go to church. Frank had gone so Dad and Sid went back to the gully to let the fence down to let the cattle in the other end of the pasture but it began to rain so came back. It was raining quite hard when we got to church and kept it up all the after noon. We got rather wet coming home. Dick walked over with Frank to dinner. I didn't go down town this after noon but went down to church again to night; and went for a short walk with Max afterwards. but went down early to see Aunt & Aunt Alice.

Monday May 15th

Frank went down first thing this morning and borrowed Mr. Fleming's hog sack and we loaded up our hogs. we were only going to catch four which were in pretty good shape but they were such a nuisance to separate that we loaded them all in the wagon and then had three the two smallest ones out but that still left two medium sized ones but they took them down. Dad wasn't very well satisfied with what he brought, he never is and thought Neil didn't give him all there was in them. The size of them at 10.75 percent came to $92.98. As soon as they left I bucked up Joe and went down to get my teeth filled as though there were some holes in them. Bill couldn't get at them for quite a while.
