

the day) he did come and helped us in the snow hauling in oats. I felt too sick to work after I had put on the first load after dinner so he went back and pitched on a load. I came in and had a rest and felt much better. Alan Law and Frank M. Bride came in after the roller while Dad. was back after the load. Cash & the baby went down town to see the flower show this after noon and stayed over at the Millman's cottage to tea. After tea Dad. drove down after them and I went down with him and went up to see the flower show. Charlie Inambury & Fat Turner brought a dandy watermelon and invited me to help eat it. We went up to the Turners & partook of it all by ourselves in the kitchen. I came home with Charlie about half past eleven. Aunty & Aunty Alice are staying down at the old house now and are awfully busy getting it cleaned up and ready for papering. Hubby has got all moved and pretty well settled I guess up in Bill Bloomb's house next to Gus. Smith. Another pretty hot day.

Friday September 17th

Dad. and I went back after a load of oats first thing this morning and we rather expected John Robins back to help us as he said he would be but he didn't show up and when Dad. came down the hill with the load and went to back up for me to lock the wheel the neck yoke snapped right in two so I ran over to Lupper's to borrow one and he said he had to keep from home to day as he needed him. he kept talking to me so long that Dad. thought I wasn't coming we got that load off before dinner but didn't have time to get another. We got two loads in this after noon. In night I went down town to see the Millman's I stopped in to see Aunty and Aunty Alice and found Mrs. Millman in there waiting for Nita and Kathleen who were up time getting ice cream & the mail. Quint. came in and after we had eaten the ice cream and visited for awhile Quint & I & Frank who had come down on his wheel went over to Brant's with the Millman's and visited for a long time. Not so hot.

We also hauled up a load of old hay last night and we used it for the bottom of the stack and to top it out with.
