

Sept 6th -
Thursday

Very hot. Feeling very sore and achy. Duncan was here in the afternoon with his re-charged battery. Studied in the morning and learnt a recitation and wrote to Blane and Donny after dinner. Had a little walk up and down the walk and around the garden. Read "Legends of Vancouver" by E. Pauline Johnson. Duncan here in the evening and as radio spoiled by static he and Charles played Chess.

Sept 7th -
Friday

Rather cool and dark. Studied, Read some books in preparation for another out-door play. Duncan here in the evening. He and Charles "listening in." I wrote to Bitnell's ordering some books for Dick and letters to Aunt Maggie and Beulah Kidd (sympathy for her mother's death.) Rained in the afternoon. Feeling a bit discouraged as pains quite frequent & free again.
