

Wednesday June 9th

Very sleepy when Dad. called me this morning about six but managed to get up about a quarter of an hour afterwards.

I sawed some wood after breakfast and then Daddy and I went in to town with Joe and Ginger on foot to look on to Faulkner's wagon. I went over to Billy Lairs with Daddy (after we had put the horses in the barn) and held sacks for him to fill with oats for us and then sat there while Daddy went up to get his hair cut.

Then we went up and got the wagon and saw Faulkner's new hip it is a dandy.

We got the oats and some things from the house including Studly who stayed over all day and ~~stayed~~ manure while Bill pitched on the empty wagon. Studly is getting to be a great horse man he was driving Belle and Harry all day to day.

After dinner I chased the cows back the lane as they had come up and not got any farther than the end of the corn field till they were back again so I drove them back once more and this time got all the way to the barn and looked and they were half way down the lane so then Bill Poffald who has been ploughing went back with me and we put a bar across the lane. Yige is getting pretty good with them.

Then went down town in search of Johnny Walker to bring the big bits of furniture over. I nearly went to sleep on the way down. Daddy and Enah came down later and got the things ready.

I first went down to the station and had a visit with Joe whom I found fast asleep in the ware
