

went fairly well but Dave took me an unwaives once and got a way. We had quite a little trouble catch him and getting him quiet. Lily came over after school to night to stay all night. It has been a lovely day. They say Art Ryersie was working on the land to day his flats too.

Saturday March 20th

Dad & Frank got off about eight o'clock to haul rails from Duncan's. Alan went up with his team at the same time he had Frank M. Beide to help him. They got back just about noon with a good sized load. They came down through town and around by Mrs. Murroes instead of around the hill or up Preston's hill. They got off about two o'clock after another load. They didn't expect Alan to be there this afternoon but he was there ahead of them. Dad said the field was very bad pulling and he told Alan he intended to haul half a load out to the road at a time instead of pulling a full load through the soft field but Alan was so sure his horses could pull it and so he piled on all the rails he could and the consequence was he got bogged in the middle of the field and had to throw half load off besides tramping the sod all up. They got home about five. I did chores and this morning pruned apple trees but the wind was too cold for that this afternoon so I just puttered around. I went down to the mill and paid them $20.00 on the account and then to be a dozen eggs over to Jack Martin. It was a lovely day this morning but a rather cold wind has been blowing since dinner.

Sunday March 21st

I didn't get the chores done in time to go to Sunday school but Frank went down and Earl & I drove down to church. They had the church all cleaned up in great shape but Mr. Johnson was sick so Cousin Will did the services and did twice as well as Mr. Johnson. This afternoon I covered Dick into going for a ride he took Belle & I took Joe, we had a nice little ride but Dick says he got terribly sore. When we got back I rode down and asked Colin Ryersie if he wanted to go to dinner Wednesday night riding, and he said if his horses wasn't working to hard he would. They have got some seed in the ground down along the creek and part of the side hill is sowed.

Dick went down town when he got home. So night I practiced on the fiddle. Frank went for articles on his bicycle this afternoon. There has been a cold wind all day to day and tonight was spitting snow. I broke an egg in the incubator to night and found a live chicken in it.
