

Saturday October 14th

Dad went over to the slaughter-house this morning to see about the heifer that Bob told him about last night. He arranged to take it for a load of hay and the calf they got last spring. Dad only got a little ^{plowing} ~~spelling~~ done this morning and none at all ^{this} afternoon as Bennister came over this morning to get him to go over there to see their pigs. Frank and I cleared up a little around and did chores. I got one foot in up above my shoe tops in a hole of old barn-yard extract of manure (sweet). This afternoon we boys were all going to husk corn but Mr. Vye came over after the mower and invited Frank and I over to his buckwheat field where we spent a very enjoyable afternoon pitching buckwheat out of the ^{road} ~~road~~ of the mowing. Mr. Vye mowed part of the time and then Mr. Haws set the rest. The field was very wet and muddy and Mr. Vye gave Frank a quarter to clean it off ~~off~~. When we came home we all went ~~back~~ and got into the load of corn. Edith Laurie was over here to tea and after tea all the choir came out and spent

Sunday October 15th

We all got up this morning about 100 clock except Dad who got up early and did the chores. We had breakfast or dinner I just forget now which we decided to call it about eleven. After that Frank and I went for a drive with Joe down the lake shore to the school house around by ~~back~~ creek and home via the mill. When we came home we foled around looking for hickory nuts and something under a tree till tea time. After tea I went down town but did not stay late but came home as far as he came with Art. Quaberry. I stayed around the Methodist Sunday School most of the time. Dad, Dick and Frank went down to Sam. Faust's to night to see when he could come to the fish but nobody was home. Dick was down town with Gerdie all afternoon. None of us were at church to-day. Dick said Auntie Maude told him Mr. Johnson was very disappointed that there were no few kids in church as this was children's day.

The evening. We all got to bed. Put most of the evening with ones that did not like it early and played. Had time.
