

FRIDAY, MARCH 25, 1870.

We have been, all of us, engaged at sundry jobs to day. The weather is still very cold and backward, indeed, more like Feb. every than March.

It was down to see Mrs. Newcomb to night and have by the blessing of God been permitted to make some arrangements with her as well as with some others of a very satisfactory nature. It does do me so much good to have it in my power to pay my debts. The pay, Ours are more any thing & C.

SATURDAY, MARCH 26, 1870.

The boys have been cutting wood to day & C.

I went to town this morning with Brown. The roads are pretty bad. I took out my cloverseed and left it at Martins. Purchased a couple bushells of another kind, besides a couple bushells of the Hayske seed.

I took dinner with Homer and Charlotte to day they have been on a trip down to Stillington Square and have just got back. The reports having seen E. S. and having had an introduction to him. Of course they are all well.
