

Saturday June 10th

After breakfast this morning I went back and hauled the mangles and the corn all morning, and most of the after-noon I chred three rows of corn before dinner and four after. Bill Donald has been harrowing his buckwheat ground to-day and Daddy spreading manure.

Bill, Dick and Leint drove old Harry up to Normandale this after-noon they were going to have a trout fish.

I quit about four and went over and got enough strawberries for tea then drove Dick's wheel down and left it in the school house porch while I went down to the stump and had a good swim.

After tea we put Ginger and Joe in the orchard and took Paul out.

Then we went back to the corn field and put out a few newspapers to scare the crows and then came in and sat around till bed-time.

It has been pretty hot and close all day and threatens rain to-night.

Our wheat east of the orchard is full of smut and Bill Donald showed us theessian fly in it.
