

Hamilton on the afternoon-train.
Went over to see Take a book and some lace over to Miss Annie Milne. Warner 5-day bot-can still stand fire in the-gate.
Wrote to Father-Cadot and sent him Dunmy's poem "The Day Sleeps & awakes".
Helped get lunch made up for Charles.
Then he came home and announced that he had been knocked down and run over by an auto. (Mr. Patchell from the-country who was following close behind a truck and who did not hit his home.) His ankle was very badly swollen where the wheel went over it. I bandaged it-up and painted his thumb with-iodine where it was bruised. He decided to go on to Hamilton so I helped him pack and went to the station with him. I expect he will feel very stiff & sore to-morrow and will likely wish the-shock drove them.
^{Mr. Caldwell came up for a book.} Duncan came up and spent the-evening. Charles telephoned about 10 o'clock that he was feeling somewhat better. Watered the flower-beds at 6 p.m.
