

the feed lever back too far till it caught and I sowed too thickly any way. This being Good Friday Dick had a holiday and Enah, Vernon & Frank went down to church and Roy looked after the babies. I watched the incubator most of the day. The eggs are beginning to come out and Roy & Vernon are very much interested in them especially the latter, she sat in the room for about an hour watching the little fellows pick themselves out and drop over board into the nursery below. This afternoon Dad. helped me get the brooder down from over the hog pen and put it in the empty chicken shed. Very nice day.

Saturday April 3rd

I got up this morning and sowed the other half the wheat field and had quite a lot of seed left so Dad. thinks it isn't thick enough and will have to be gone over again. I had the machine shut tight and walked quite a bit faster. Roy & I spent most of the morning getting the brooder in shape and he fixed up Enah's dairy thermometer & put in the brooder. Dad. did chores most of the morning. This afternoon Dad. went down to Carl Coleman's to see a sick cow and then on down town to the dentist's as his teeth was still sore and Bill picked out some pieces of bone. We hauled up the team to the wagon and took the whole family down town, Roy, Frank & I went down to the beach and got a part of a load of sand for to put in front of the brooder to soak up the mud. Mr. Pickford was down there getting a load and we had quite a visit with him. We came up around by town and got Enah, Vernon & the two babies on, we had to go down to Mrs. Spey's stepping block to let Vernonia's head sists were too narrow to get in on Main St. Dad. walked home as he had to go in on his way back again to see Carl's cow. When we got home Roy and I put the sand in in front of the brooder. So night Vernon & Roy went over to Mrs. Battersby's to tea and I drove Enah down to choir practice. I drove down after her about ten o'clock and met her coming home with Truman & Lopsy Walker. It has been a very nice day Vernon has been dipping hard boiled eggs for the kids & night.

Sunday April 4th Easter.

Roy got up early and went down to early communion this morning so that he could keep Rebecca and let Vernon go down to the other service. but Vernon stayed home and kept house so the whole bunch of us went down at eleven o'clock even Dad. & Dick. This afternoon we moved the chicks to the brooder, there were just fifty eight and some of them were
