

As I entered here and the deep shadow those two graves had cast in our hearts, to the Crown & robes of Light.
"For thanks be to Israel's God," they were both ready to go. So their death had no terrors. They sleep in peace till the last great day. Then we shall all meet again. God grant we may each one of us have on a robe of righteousness. Being washed and made clean in the blood of the Lamb.
