"What are you about?" angrily said a country editor to his wife, who was touching up her complexion before the mirror. "Only getting up my patent outside, dear," was the reply.

"John, did you take the note to Mr. Jones?" "Yes; but I don't think he can read it." "Why so, John?" "Because he is blind, sir. While I was in the room he axed me twice where my hat was, and it was on my head all the time."

The newest thing in socks—a baby.

"Woman is a delusion," said a crusty old bachelor in our sanctum recently. Snodgrass retorted, "Well, man is always hugging some delusion or other."

Every dog has his day, but the nights belong to the cats.

"This," said the dentist, "is my office." "And that?" inquired a visitor, pointing to the apartment where stood the tooth-pulling chair. "Ah, that," replied the proprietor, "that is my drawing room."

One day, Billy, that's my brother, he and Sammy Doppy was playin' by a mud hole, and Billy he said— "Now, Sammy, les play we was a barnyard. You be the pig and lie down and woller, and I'll be a bull and beller like everything." So Sammy got down on his hands and wollered while Billy bellered like distant thunder. Bimeby Sammy he cum out muddy. You never seen such a muddy little feller, and he said—"Now you be the pig and let me beller." But Billy he said—"I ain't a very good pig 'fore dinner, and ittle be time 'nuff for you to beller when yer mother sees yer close."

A little nonsense now and then
 Is relished by the wisest men.

"One thing," said an old toper, "was never seen coming through the rye, and that's the kind of whisky one gets now-a-days."

The man who originated the saying, "Hurry is the mark of a weak mind," never was chased by a bull dog.
