

6990 3

Thursday, January 20

20 DAYS PAST

346 TO COME

The Heart in Syphilis—No. 3.

The special method of treatment should be individual, but both mercury and salvarsan are efficacious in the condition; usually they are preferably combined; in some instances the former, in others the latter, acts best. Iodine is an efficient adjuvant in at least some instances.

Treatment should be continued until a permanent negative Wassermann is attained. Subsequent to this the management of the case should be along circulatory, not luetic, lines.
—Harlow Brooks; Am. J. Med. Sc.

Weather

Temp.

Warmer, snowed last night & rained all day
I took Gullad John went after his chops brought her home in the morning when we got to school our umbrella was coated with ice
Mr. Boy was over to see
Lewis is better but, not out of the house yet. I washed again today

Mariah to Billy to