

and as the Woodhouse Council met this afternoon we had to give up the council chamber to them and had no class. Frank came home to dinner to tell Dad how matters stood as he had all the chores done up ready to come down this afternoon and Lear Gardner I stayed at Aunt's to dinner and went up this afternoon to have Dr. Jensen fix my tooth but as he couldn't tend to it till four o'clock I went with Aunt over to see Miss Battersby and up to see Cassam Lott, then up to Belle the first part a temporary filling in. When I went down to Aunt's I found Dad there and we came home together to-night. Frank went down to see Tom Mack's show and I went over to Mrs. Battersby's to take her the picture of her house and then with the ice on them. We got our mail for the first time to-day since last Friday, but the West-stock road is not open yet and every one down town is predicting a storm to strike here about to-morrow which will put this last one in the shade. They say the station agents have received wires warning them to be ready for it. It was yesterday supposed to be sweeping Chicago.

Friday January 18th

Frank and I have been down at the class all day

Mr. Duke was supposed to be here to day to address us on Slaves but he didn't show up. We had insect pests and Lee's this morning and this afternoon tested cream and chose up sides for a debate next Friday. Corby, young Butler and I have to take the affirmative of the resolution that the Present war will prove a benefit to humanity. and Clarence Finch, Tom Thompson & young Challand are to take the negative and I don't know beans about the subject but suppose I can think up something by that time. To-night Mary, Miss Kerney & I went to see "Greckles" at the picture show, he got through at least and was only on for to-night. We went to the first show but the place was packed to the doors so we went back and waited till the second show then I went in after the show and had some tea & cake so it was rather late when I got home. It has been a beautiful day but colder to-night.

Saturday January 19th

We didn't do much this morning but got the lanes cleared out enough for Frank to get through with the hob-slight and go down to the mill and get the chops left down there the other day. I went down to Aunt's to dinner and this afternoon went to dinner on the car
