226 DAYS PAST

140 TO COME

To Relieve Thirst After Abdominal Operation.

The very best friend we have in alleviating discomfort and thirst after abdominal operations is the normal saline solution injected per rectum, prepared by using ordinary table salt (not Cerebos), about 80 grains to a pint of water previously boiled, and cooled down to a temperature of 100 degrees Fahr. This is not only useful to lessen thirst, but to combat shock and in cases of collapse the temperature of the normal saline solution should be 105 degrees Fahr.

Weather Hot but windy. Temp.

Had pickenico to-day. Melba and Maud were at Gertie Mills' party which started at 2.00 P. M. and stayed for lunch. Airplane flew over Cylmer many times. Lower school report came out. Albert + Cecil were here to-night. Elsie Estline is sick, but a little better to-day. Eva came over to see if she could leave Herbert with us to-morrow but we were going away + going to have company.
