Geriatric Aphorisms—No. 5.

Snoring in sleep is of no consequence; groaning indicates cerebral hyperemia or other pathological condition. Talking in sleep, if unusual, is generally a muttering delirium.

Mouth temperature is always one or two degrees lower than rectal temperature and it may vary two degrees at different times of the day in health and more in disease.—

Girls went to school. I finished Maudie's embroidered night dress. Evelin was over last night. John was down to Clarence's over to Billy Davis's. Mr. Elves went to see his sister
up in Southampton.
