155 TO COME

To Prevent Re-Infection.

Anti-periodic treatment must, of course, be employed to neutralize paludal poisoning, but, after the plasmodium is destroyed and eliminated, fresh infection must be guarded against. Pepto-Mangan (Gude), by restoring the structural integrity of the red cells, and increasing their hemoglobin content, establishes the power of the blood to successfully resist secondary malarial infection.

A fine day
I went berrying with Bevil & his mother & got a lot of berries. Washed & his share was out in the afternoon. Bevil was over in the evening. John hoed his potatoes. John went to King's mill
