

Friday March 24th

Frank got started this morning about nine o'clock to the Street Fair in Jim Cove. it is the second one they have had he took up the young gobblers and a turkey hen. he didn't get back till after five to night. he sold the turkeys but could only sell them in the pound and just got $5.15 for them but it was the best he could do. he said there was quite a little bit of stock there but none of it went very high he said there were 4 many buyers. Dad and I just did chores and piled some more of the wood. This after noon Dad cleaned out the hog pen, the little pigs roost the boards in the floor of their up stairs sleeping apart mens up and drop them with Gladys pen and then she goes for them. This morning Harry Anshley and Broncy Brock came over with a couple of harness which Harry wanted to hook up. one was a little more so stiff he could hardly go he hooked them up to the hook snags and drove around the block with them. Alan Law came after Dad just before dinner to get him to look at old Ned who Alan said was shaking to death but Dad said he couldn't see any thing of the matter with him. Mrs. Jones & Mrs. M. Carter drove down Waddles horse over here this after noon. I set my incubator to-day it seems to be going all right now. To night I went down and got my hair cut and went up to see Marj. Glen. Repase was telling Dad. yesterday that Tommy Jackson had sold his farm to Frank Repase. sunny & mild to-day.

Saturday March 25th

This morning Dad & Frank went down and cut down the trunk of the old locust tree and logged it up. I did chores and about noon took Harry & Nellie out went down after them and the wood. This after noon Frank and I went over to Elysia sale and were there all the after noon. There was a good crowd and things went pretty well. I was going to look at the harness but it sold for $35 which is about ten dollars more than he paid for it about ten years ago. the cows went about as reasonably as any thing and they each had a calf last night. Jack Martin bought the red & white one for $82 and I think it was Elysia Bonyon paid $90 for the black and white one. George Croshie paid $152 for the old mare. and young Powell gave $104 for the four year old filly which was all she was worth. Elmer Atkinson got Stan the five year old for $70.
