Prophylaxis of Complications in Mumps.

Whenever there is danger of metastasis from mumps, either to the mammary glands or to the testicles, apply a hot mustard poultice over the parotid gland and put the patient to bed for a few hours. The inflammation will be attracted to its original site and there remain, and will abate with proper treatment.

a very cold didn't have very much John took the milk & this afternoon he went with Lewis up to this place to help him bag up cats & chopped wood. Was over to marks to night. I tried out the fat & mella I tried to night, I started knitting socks for the soldiers yesterday. I was over
