

making this hot weather. 6th - Dad & Frank piled up all the shingles at the Sunday school and I planted my pumpkin seed also some squash, cucumbers water melon & musk melon and some more corn.

7th Sunday. We went down town and Marj took Effie Davidson a wedding present as she was marrying Jim David son ^{the} next Weaners day and they are both ex-pupils and favorites of Marj's. We called on the Pickford's on our way home. Monday, 8th we cleaned up the shingles at the Sunday school. brought one load out here and the rest to the farm. (9th) Frank came out and we stacked the logs that were stowed around the gully into one place where they would be handy to load. and got the four in Dave's place in a handy location and took two of them over home on the old waggon. got the other waggon there and went over to Charlie Butler and got the log that had floated down into his gully and took the three of them to the mill. 10th I went over and asked Harvey Shand if I could borrow his low trucks and logging lumps and got his permission to get my one log that drifted into his woods in the afternoon we all went to town and Marj went to a party at Bessie Patterson's in honor of

Amy Turner who was married this last week to Parker 11th I went up to Shands and got the waggon and to Dad came over before I got back with it. He helped me load the biggest log and a couple of smaller ones and we took them as far as the farm before dinner. We had dinner alone as Frank & Enos were both in dinner. In the afternoon we loaded the log in Shand's woods and the smaller ones and I took them down alone.

It was late when I got home and Mrs. Dove who had been here all day was starting to walk home although she looked like a ghost and I don't believe she ever could have made it so I told her to wait and I drove her home as soon as I could get the harness changed on Ireen.

July 16th Thursday. Since I last wrote in this Mrs. Dove's affairs have come to a head. Marj gathered from what she told her and from what Ima has told her that the old man Dove has been very hard with her. They are like nearly every one else around in debt and he thinks they all should work day and night and do with out sufficient food and clothing
