

Monday June 18th

It rained during the night so was pretty wet first thing this morning and I put the bee hives that we got in Beaufort the other day, together. About ten o'clock the Wampus and I planted some more potatoes. She planted two rows all by herself and did it right. I just got one row covered by noon when it began to rain and has rained more or less steadily all afternoon. I spent most of the afternoon putting the frames for the hives together and wiring some of them and also hanging up the bottom panel of the porch screen door.

Tuesday June 19th

It evidently poured rain during the night so every thing was soaked this morning. It was too wet to do any thing around the place so I took the car down to Hamakers and had Sam Clements fix the snubbers and put in a new spark plug. I spent the day at Auntys. Tom cut some weeds and put in an anchor post for the orchard fence. It has been cloudy all day but has cleared off to night. A bunch of rowdies from town chircanned truck which

Wednesday June 20th

Mary woke me up at 2 o'clock this morning to get the doctor as she was feeling uneasy. He came down but said there would be no need for him till morning. Neither of us slept much after that. I had promised to take Auntys child to Mr. Baerme's funeral in Jarvis this afternoon so about ten o'clock came home and got dressed and shaved but the doctor was at Mrs. Lawsons which I was gone and said I wanted to leave so Dick drove them down to Jarvis. Mary kept feeling worse and worse till about one o'clock when I went up again and got the doctor. I then went over to Auntys to wait developments which the doctor said would be in a couple of hours. I went back about 2.30 and found the doctor gone and the baby arrived and every body doing well. I went back and told Auntys the news and spent the rest of the day over there. I came home for a while this evening but went back to stay all night in case they wanted any thing. Harry B is disappointed at the baby being a girl and so are the rest of us but are mighty glad it is all over with safety. She weighs 10 1/2 lbs. fat as butter and squalls lustily. Harry B has been sick the last two days but feels a little better.
